

AN INTRO TO MIND MAPS / KEY IDEAS

Skills learning: stop wasting time with 'information overload' and waffle and confusion, and use cognitive science strategies and disciplines to focus your brain on key ideas instead.

Your brain is not a computer - it processes information in very specific 'pesky human species' ways - in fact in many ways your phone has a more efficient and simpler data processor and memory than you.

My Key-Idea Notes and Mind Mapping half day experiential workshop explains the cognitive science of how our brains gather and organise and store and recall data, and facilitates groups in a fun and practical 'learning by discovery' model that will teach learners to change habits and approach data in efficient ways that our brains love - creating actual mind maps on the day. (This is a great team building and discussion forum too.)

I just need a projector and engaged learners - you provide the venue and as many attendees as it can comfortably take. Theatre style for the AV PPT presentation of the theory - and then groups at tables for the second half..

Pricing per half day onsite workshop: is from €495. (includes workshop materials)

Or flexible module pricing is from:

This basic pricing assumes onsite in a Dublin city centre premises, (call 0868113031 with your details and location for a quotation if outside that area, and/or for a training needs analysis and a bespoke model, or for session plans and terms and conditions). Pricing excludes colour mind map prints and mapping paper and coloured markers - request them to be included in the quotation, or I will provide a list for you to have at the venue. E&OE.

What do clients think? Check HERE on my website testimonials page.

For more information call Veronica Walsh at 0868113031, or click on the newsletters ball to open hi res flyers on my various workplace CogSci training options.

Unsubscribe from my monthly newsletters HERE

© CBTandFeelingGood.com 2017

powered by sensorpro